

Output Mode Brief (MVP Scope)

Project: The Brand Godfather

Purpose: Define the behavior and scope of post-onboarding usage (retention layer)

1. Objective

After completing the Brand Book (onboarding phase), the system must transition into Output Mode.

Output Mode is not a simple content generator.

It must function as a guided strategic interaction system that helps users plan and create ongoing brand communication.

2. Core Behavior

Output Mode should follow a 3-step guided flow:

Step 1: Intent Selection

The AI asks the user what they want to accomplish.

Examples of user intent:

- Build community
- Build trust
- Promote a product or service
- Share brand story
- Plan a campaign

Step 2: Clarification

The AI asks 2–5 short follow-up questions to refine the request.

Examples:

- Which product or service is this for?
- Who is the target audience?
- What outcome do you want?
- Is this tied to a specific date, event, or promotion?

Step 3: Output Generation

The AI generates structured outputs based on user input and stored brand data.

3. Output Types (MVP)

The system must be able to generate:

A. Social Content Ideas

- post ideas
- angles and messaging

B. Campaign Planning

- campaign themes
- structured outreach ideas

C. Product / Service Promotion

- messaging ideas
- positioning suggestions

D. Brand Storytelling

- different perspectives on the brand story
- customer transformation angles

E. Engagement Content

- questions
- quizzes or survey ideas

F. Seasonal / Event-Based Ideas

- holidays
- events
- timing-based opportunities

G. “Ask the Brand Godfather”

- general guidance based on brand strategy

4. Use of Brand Profile

All outputs must be generated using stored brand data, including:

- Brand Story
- Big Idea
- Brand Promise

- Vision and Mission
- Values / Attitude / Personality
- Target Audience

The system must ensure outputs remain consistent with the brand identity.

5. UX Requirements

- Output Mode should feel like a conversation, not a static tool
- AI must ask before generating (no immediate content dumping)
- Outputs should be presented clearly and be easy to use

6. MVP Constraints

- No need for advanced automation or scheduling
- No need for complex analytics
- No need for multi-step campaign builders

Focus on:

- clarity
- usefulness
- repeat engagement

7. Success Criteria

Output Mode is successful if users:

- return weekly or monthly
- use it to generate ongoing ideas
- feel guided, not overwhelmed
- see it as a strategic partner, not just a generator
